Assignments are due at the beginning of class. Late assignments are worth 50% of the total points earned for up to a week after the due date. Assignments submitted later than one week after the due date will not be accepted. Please remember teacher candidates must have grades of C or better and a total BYU GPA of 3.0 in all courses required for a teaching major to be recommended for licensure in Utah. Students must meet these requirements to be admitted to and retained in a teaching major and to student teach. If students do not meet the requirements, they may change their major or retake courses until they meet the requirements.

Participation Policy

Attending class for the full class period and participating in class discussion is expected. Arriving late, leaving early, and inappropriate use of technology (e.g., texting, emailing, reading web pages) during class is inconsistent with the expectation to be present and engaged in class. Group Case Study - 1

Due: Monday, Mar 07 at 11:59 pm
Group Case Study – Collaborating to Meet the Needs of Exceptional Students

Group: 4 – 5 individuals per group
To complete the assignment, each member of your group will need to take on one of the roles listed below. Each member brings a unique perspective, skills, and interests to the team. You will need to recognize and appreciate the individual contribution of each team member and then integrate each person’s contribution into a holistic, comprehensive support plan for your assigned student. It may be helpful to determine an overarching goal or objective for your student and then use your individual contributions to help support and further this objective.

School Psychologist: Use your knowledge of the strengths and weaknesses of your student to develop a lesson to help develop his/her social emotional skills. You should determine in what context this lesson should be taught to maximize its effectiveness on the student. Consider strategies to enhance the generalization and maintenance of the skills you are teaching.

Lesson plan should include: instructional goal; materials for the lesson; directions for the assignment or activity; assessment outcomes (what evidence or skills will you see demonstrated to indicate that the child has met the instructional goal?). The lesson should be age appropriate.

Regular Classroom Teacher: Use the Utah Core Standards and develop a math lesson to meet the needs of the child. Use what you know about your student’s strengths and weaknesses to determine what skills you need to work on. You should prepare this lesson for a small group or the whole general education classroom.

Lesson plan should include: instructional goal; strategies to incorporate Universal Design for Learning; materials for the lesson; directions for the assignment or activity; assessment outcomes (what evidence or skills will you see demonstrated to indicate that the child has met the instructional goal?). The lesson should be age appropriate.
Special Education Teacher: Use the Utah Core Standards and develop a creative reading lesson using 2 of the 5 – “Big 5 Reading Components”: phonemic awareness; phonics; vocabulary; reading text; and comprehension. Lesson plan should include: instructional goal; materials for the lesson; directions for the assignment or activity; assessment outcomes (what evidence or skills will you see demonstrated to indicate that the child has meet the instructional goal?). The lesson should be age appropriate.

School counselor: Develop a creative lesson for a Friendship group of ELL students; it should include an activity where the students will “Get to Know” each other. Lesson plan should include: instructional goal; materials for the lesson; directions for the assignment or activity; assessment outcomes (what evidence or skills will you see demonstrated to indicate that the child has meet the instructional goal?). The lesson should be age appropriate.

If there are 5 people in your group, assign multiple group members to one of the four roles. All four roles must be represented in the final analysis.

1. Group Summary Report
   Your final report should include a description of the student, her/his strengths/weaknesses, an implementation plan detailing your integrated approach to serving the student, and a detailed analysis of your collaborative process. Your description of the collaborative process should include a discussion of how you structured your team to deal with conflict, decision-making, participation, and other relevant factors.
   The report should be no longer than 5 pages with standard formatting. All the collateral lesson plans, materials, and the TIPS self-assessment forms should be included as appendices at the end of the written report.

2. Individual Summary
   Analyze your collaboration experience. What did each of you contribute to the process? Rate your contributions and those of your team members (1 to 5 scale
- 5 outstanding, 1 completely inadequate). Discuss your successes and/or challenges collaborating. This section should be no longer than 3 pages.

Teacher/Para Observation

Due: Monday, Mar 14 at 8:00 am

Observe 2 individuals working together while teaching or interacting with a student with disabilities (minimum of 2 hours observing). After observing, interview the individuals using the questions provided. Write up your experience.

This assignment requires a minimum of 3 hours of work - observing and interviewing.

Select either a special education teacher and a paraeducator or a special education and a general education teacher. Selecting two special educators is not appropriate for this assignment. Observe the 2 people for a minimum of 2 hours while they are interacting with those with disabilities.

Interview those you observed using the questions below. In most cases, it would be best to interview them separately to get more candid responses.

1. Special Education Teachers: Tell me about your career and the collaborative experiences you've had. Why did you choose to become a special educator? In what ways do you collaborate with other teachers, paraeducators, and parents of their students? How would you rate the collaborative atmosphere of their school? What are the challenges? What are the rewards? What suggestions would you make for new special educators collaborating with others?
2. General Education Teachers: Tell me about the collaboration experience you have had in the school. Why did you choose to become a special education teacher? In terms of working with disabilities, in what ways do you collaborate with other teachers, paraeducators and parents? What do you like about collaborating with special education? What do you dislike? What are the challenges? What are the rewards? What suggestions would you make for new special educators about collaborating with general education teachers?

3. Paraeducators: Tell me about your experiences collaborating with others in the school. Why did you choose to become a paraeducator? What do you like about being a paraeducator? What do you dislike? What are the challenges? What are the rewards? What suggestions would you make for new special educators about collaborating with paraeducators?

Write up your experience including the following information:

- When you observed them (e.g., date, time, length of time)
- Where you observed them (e.g., general education classroom)
- The activity in which they were engaged (e.g., co-taught lesson)

University Policies

Honor Code

In keeping with the principles of the BYU Honor Code, students are expected to be honest in all of their academic work. Academic honesty means, most fundamentally, that any work you present as your own must in fact be your own work and not that of another. Violations of this principle may result in a failing grade in the course and additional disciplinary action by the university. Students are also expected to adhere to the Dress and Grooming Standards. Adherence demonstrates respect for yourself and others and ensures an effective learning and working environment. It is the university’s expectation, and every instructor’s expectation in class, that each student will abide by all Honor Code standards. Please call the Honor Code Office at 422-2847 if you have questions about those standards.

Sexual Misconduct

As required by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the university prohibits sex discrimination against any participant in its education programs or activities. Title IX also prohibits sexual harassment—including sexual violence—committed by or against students, university employees, and visitors to campus. As outlined in university policy, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking are considered forms of "Sexual Misconduct" prohibited by the university.

University policy requires any university employee in a teaching, managerial, or supervisory role to report incidents of sexual misconduct that come to their attention through various forms including face-to-face conversation, a written class assignment or paper, class discussion, email, text, or social media post. If you encounter sexual misconduct, please contact the Title IX Coordinator at t9coordinator@byu.edu or 801-422-2130 or Ethics Point at https://titleix.byu.edu/report-concern or 1-888-238-1062 (24-hours). Additional information about Title IX and resources available to you can be found at http://titleix.byu.edu.

Student Disability

Brigham Young University is committed to providing a working and learning atmosphere that reasonably accommodates qualified persons with disabilities. If you have any disability which may impair your ability to complete this course successfully, please contact the University Accessibility Center (UAC), 2170 WSC or 422-2767. Reasonable academic accommodations are reviewed for all students who have qualified, documented disabilities. The UAC can also assess students for learning, attention, and emotional concerns. Services are coordinated with the student and instructor by the UAC. If you need assistance or if you feel you have been unlawfully discriminated against on the basis of disability, you may seek resolution through established grievance policy and procedures by contacting the Equal Employment Office at 422-5895, D-285 ASB.

Academic Honesty

The first injunction of the Honor Code is the call to "be honest." Students come to the university not only to improve their minds, gain knowledge, and develop skills that will assist them in their life's work, but also to build character. "President David O. McKay taught that character is the highest aim of education" (The Aims of a BYU Education, p.6). It is the purpose of the BYU Academic Honesty Policy to assist in fulfilling that aim. BYU students should seek to be totally honest in their dealings with others. They should complete their own work and be evaluated based upon that work. They should avoid academic dishonesty and misconduct in all its forms, including but not limited to plagiarism, fabrication or falsification, cheating, and other academic misconduct.

Plagiarism

Intentional plagiarism is a form of intellectual theft that violates widely recognized principles of academic integrity as well as the Honor Code. Such plagiarism may subject the student to appropriate disciplinary action administered through the university Honor Code Office, in addition to academic sanctions that may be applied by an instructor. Inadvertent plagiarism, which may not be a violation of the Honor Code, is nevertheless a form of intellectual carelessness that is unacceptable in the academic community. Plagiarism of any kind is completely contrary to the established practices of higher education where all members of the university are expected to acknowledge the original intellectual work of others that is included in their own work. In some cases, plagiarism may also involve violations of copyright law. Intentional Plagiarism-Intentional plagiarism is the deliberate act of representing the words, ideas, or data of another as one's own without providing proper attribution to the author through quotation, reference, or footnote. Inadvertent Plagiarism-Inadvertent plagiarism involves the inappropriate, but non-deliberate, use of another's words, ideas, or data without proper attribution. Inadvertent plagiarism usually results from an ignorant failure to follow established rules for documenting sources or from simply not being sufficiently careful in research and writing. Although not a violation of the Honor Code, inadvertent plagiarism is a form of academic misconduct for which an instructor can impose appropriate academic sanctions. Students who are in doubt as to whether they are providing proper attribution have the responsibility to consult with their instructor and obtain guidance. Examples of plagiarism include: Direct Plagiarism-The verbatim copying of an original source without acknowledging the source. Paraphrased Plagiarism-The paraphrasing, without acknowledgement, of ideas from another that the reader might mistake for the author's own. Plagiarism Mosaic-The borrowing of words, ideas, or data from an original source and blending this original material with one's own without acknowledging the source. Insufficient Acknowledgement-The partial or incomplete attribution of words, ideas, or data from an original source. Plagiarism may occur with respect to unpublished as well as published material. Copying another student's work and submitting it as one's own individual work without proper attribution is a serious form of plagiarism.

Respectful Environment

"Sadly, from time to time, we do hear reports of those who are at best insensitive and at worst insulting in their comments to and about others... We hear derogatory and sometimes even defamatory comments about those with different political, athletic, or ethnic views or experiences. Such behavior is completely out of place at BYU, and I enlist the aid of all to monitor carefully and, if necessary, correct any such that might occur here, however inadvertent or unintentional. "I worry particularly about demeaning comments made about the career or major choices of women or men either directly or about members of the BYU community generally. We must remember that personal agency is a fundamental principle and that none of us has the right or option to criticize the lawful choices of another." President Cecil O. Samuelson, Annual University Conference, August 24, 2010 "Occasionally, we ... hear reports that our female faculty feel disrespected, especially by students, for choosing to work at BYU, even though each one has been approved by the BYU Board of Trustees.
Brothers and sisters, these things ought not to be. Not here. Not at a university that shares a constitution with the School of the Prophets." Vice President John S. Tanner, Annual University Conference, August 24, 2010
