COURSE DESCRIPTION AND GOALS
This course provides an overview of theoretical concepts and practical issues related to group counseling. The course covers counselor issues, client selection criteria, client and group preparation, group structuring, group processes, evidence-based group practice, and basic therapeutic techniques. Students will acquire basic skills in leading group counseling sessions and dealing with difficult situations through experiential exercises. The purpose is to introduce students to concepts of group dynamics and development as well as the practical aspects of leading a group. Discussion of structured and unstructured groups as well as group settings and purposes will be included.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
1. To learn major concepts in contemporary theory and practice of group counseling.
2. To develop a rationale for different group structures and processes.
3. To experience practical group skills by forming, conducting, and ending a mock counseling group.
4. To learn and be able to utilize basic evidence-based practice/practice-based evidence concepts in group psychotherapy

SUPPLEMENTAL TEXTS:
COURSE REQUIREMENTS & GRADING

A variety of methods will be used to approach the course objectives. These include lectures, discussions, video presentations, in-class role-plays, live observation(s), project presentations, participation in a weekly mock group during class, readings, and handouts.

ATTENDANCE / PARTICIPATION: Students may receive up to 50 points for perfect attendance and regular participation. Much of the interactional and experiential learning for this course will take place during class activities; therefore, ten (10) points will be deducted from the attendance/participation portion of the grade for each absence, regardless of the reason. Lack of participation in class discussions may also result in a deduction of five (5) points for each class discussion or activity not engaged in. One (1) point will also be deducted for each tardy. Students are responsible for any announcements made during missed classes.

READING: Students will read the first 10 chapters from the textbook and possibly other supplemental readings. Access to supplemental readings will be provided by the course instructor. Students are responsible to read the material before coming to class. Reading logs will be due every two weeks. The readings are worth up to 40 points.

PROPOSAL FOR DIVERSITY- OR AGE-RELATED OR SPECIALIZED GROUPS: Assigned groups of students will become “expert” on designated chapters in the text or other reading resources dealing with groups for diverse or age-related populations (i.e., multi-cultural, children, adolescents, adults, and elderly) or specialized groups (i.e. trauma stress, disabled persons, anger management, military personnel, divorce support, etc.). Group proposals can be for a variety of target populations and can be a combination of the types of groups listed above. Students can work in groups of two or individually. The purpose of this assignment is to give you the opportunity to practice creating a proposal for a group you think you might be likely to lead in the future. Proposals will be turned in to be graded, but will also be shared among class members. The proposal is worth up to 30 points.

MOCK GROUP LEARNING EXPERIENCE: Each student will participate in a series of role played or mock groups led by class members (on a rotating basis) or by the instructors. Members will participate according to assigned roles (Sample role descriptions will be provided.). Students will act as a group leader at least twice and a group participant (with assigned role) each class period during these experiential mock groups. These groups will be conducted during class time during nearly every class period.

Experiential simulations are intended to illustrate group phenomena and will not function as group therapy. Participation will be voluntary and by informed consent. We will do our best to maintain a safe environment, free from pressure for self-disclosure. The purpose is not to provoke anxiety or intrude upon the personal lives of the students, but rather to stimulate curiosity and awareness of how groups work.

Experiential Interventions: Students will be asked to find and utilize an experiential activity/intervention (e.g., ice breaker, process development activity, psychodrama) designed for group therapy during at least one of the sessions they lead the mock group.

Group Notes: Class members will be asked to write a group note for each experiential group session. The note should be reflective of major group themes, conflicts, or process interactions that occurred during the session, and it may also provide a conceptualization of group needs and progress. The notes may be written according to the individual style of the students and do not need to reflect the instructor’s particular theoretical orientation. In addition, students will also be asked to write a brief note (3-4 lines) about one group member's work during the session as well as a brief conceptualization on this member. Students are encouraged to write the adjunctive note about a different group member each week. Example notes will be provided by the instructors. These notes, in conjunction with participation in the mock group experience and the experiential intervention, are worth up to 50 points.

If a student elects not to participate in the above mock group experience, s/he may choose to participate in one of the two alternatives below, without penalty:

Alternative 1: Class members can choose to be in a group at the Counseling and Career Center (CCC) or BYU Comprehensive Clinic. In order to avoid disruption of these ongoing groups, if a class member chooses this option, s/he will be required to attend the group for the entire semester or term. Those wishing to engage in such groups need to do so as a participant, not as an observer. Your instructors will help make this arrangement if a student so desires. Everyone choosing this alternative will be encouraged to write a reflection of their own group experience at the end of the term (note: it is critical to protect the privacy of other group members in this paper). These reflections will be confidential and not graded. This is worth up to 50 points, based on qualitative evaluation of content. Five (5) points will be deducted for each session missed.

Alternative 2: Class members can choose to write a 25-page academic paper on group counseling or therapy. This option will be available for any student who does not want to participate in either of the two group options above. The topic is to be mutually agreed upon by the student and instructor. This is worth up to 50 points, based on qualitative evaluation of content and technical presentation such as format, spelling, grammar, etc.

THEORETICAL ORIENTATION PRESENTATION: Students will study a theoretical approach to group therapy in depth and give a presentation to the rest of the class. Presentations should cover the premises, practices, role of the group leader, desired outcomes, and evaluation of the theoretical approaches they are assigned to study. Please create a one-page handout that summarizes your presentation (email this to the instructors). The project is worth up to 30 points.

OR

GROUP EXPERIENCE PROJECT: Students will be asked to create "something" that highlights or represents their group experience throughout the semester. Minimal guidelines will be provided for this project as it is intended to be about the student's experience, rather than to meet expectations or specific guidelines. It is expected that the student will put forth effort on this project and will be able to present it to the class during the final week of the semester. Example projects include a written song performed for the class, a group experiential activity and discussion, a painting, etc. (also worth up to 30 points).
