Get Involved

There is a national teacher shortage and you can make a difference. Mentor a student, encourage young people to pursue a teaching career, speak positively about the profession.On our building we're extending an invitation to all to consider teaching. Check out degrees offered on our website.

Arts Belong in Education

Educators learned how to integrate the arts into their curriculum and spark more creativity in their classrooms at Arts Express. If you missed this opportunity, don't worry! There are multiple lesson plans on our website integrating art with core curriculum.

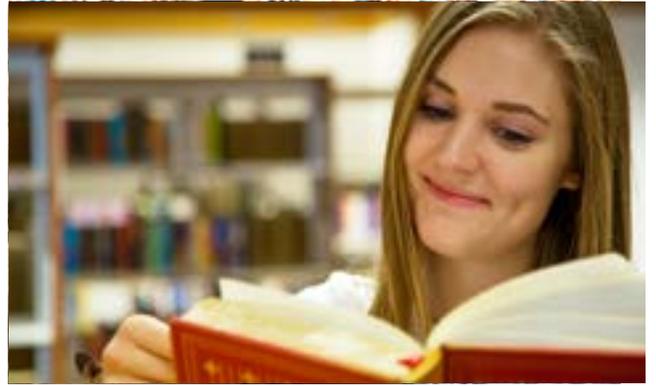

Come Home

McKay School Homecoming
You are invited to the McKay School Alumni tailgate gathering on October 13, 2018, on the patio of the BYU Conference Center. Come for food, games, and giveaways. Reconnect with former classmates and faculty. The event is open to all alumni of the McKay School of Education.

Read a Good Book Lately?

Book Recommendations
Come to our website and see a list of book recommendations from faculty and alumni. They are now organized under the genres fiction, non-fiction, and children/young adult. Send in your own recommendation(s) to mckayalumni@byu.edu

Spotlights

Jade Balden escaped a war--torn Vietnam as a refugee. Since then she has built her life around helping others. Send a suggestion of an alumni to feature or let us know if you are willing to be interviewed for a spotlight. It's painless. Send information to mckayalumni@byu.edu Conference, Lois Hetland, an affiliate of Project Zero at the Harvard Graduate School of Education, addressed a crowd of school leaders and administrators about the importance of arts education across disciplines.

Rediscover BYU

Located on the north-east corner of campus, the Harman Continuing Education Building received a new 110,000 square foot addition to aid in its efforts to bless current and future employees, students, and guests. This new addition triples the original size of the Har-man Building.