THREE SIMULATIONS

1. Changing a Habit

- How difficult is to change a reading habit?

2. Reading with a New Alphabet

- How easy is it to learn to read?

3. Reading Difficult Text

- What is the effect of accuracy on comprehension?

SLIDES ARE AVAILABLE FOR USE BY WORKSHOP PARTICIPANTS

The slides, with presenter's notes, are available only for people who attend this workshop. If you request the slides, please do not share them with others. If someone requests the slides from you, refer them to Michael Hunter, Michael@Readsters.com.

The slides are intended for use by educators to help teachers and parents understand the difficulties struggling readers encounter. They are not to be used with students.

PERMISSION TO USE SLIDES

To request a set of presenter's slides for the reading simulations, send an email to Linda@Readsters.com requesting the slides. Include the following wording from in your email.

I attended the session at the 2019 Plain Talk About Literacy and Learning presented by Readsters in February 2008 and saw the three reading simulations.

I understand that:

1. The slides are copyrighted.
2. I will be the only person to use/present these slides.
3. I will not share the slides with anyone in any form, including by paper or electronic means.
